Groundbreaking arts curriculum for underserved youth

For more than 30 years, Youth and the Arts (YATA) has provided underserved students with opportunities to learn, practice and sharpen their theatre arts skills. Under the guidance of qualified artistic and academic professionals, students can explore their creativity in a safe, honest and non-judgemental environment.

"Inspiring and transforming lives" is at the core CMP's mission, and education is at the core of all its programming. CMP staff works year-long with students of all ages in developing skills that come to bear in production and continue on into their daily lives.

YATA programs are based on the principle that the arts are an essential component in preparing young people intellectually, physically, emotionally and ethically for our complex and ever-changing world.
